Tribute to an Orphan Girl.

Elizabeth Clay, fourteen-year-old child, died at the home of the widow Price June 16. Her trouble was consumption, which it is possible she inherited, as her father and mother died of that dread disease. She was small to her age and always appeared to be a delicate child. After the death of her parents she, with the other children, was thrown on the cold charity of the world without money or strength to fight life's battles, but the psalmist said he had never seen the righteous forsaken or their children beg for bread. Kind neighbors took this little consumptive into their home and cared for her until God sent his angels to carry all that was immortal of Lizzy to the Heavenly home. Sometime before her death she became interested about her soul and sent for a number of good people to come and pray with her. During the time persons tried to impress her that she was so small, modest and innocent that she had never sinned, but she knew better and unless she was converted she would be lost and would never be able to meet her father and mother, whom she felt sure were in Heaven. She kept on praying, like Jacob of old, and would not let go. The day before her death the messenger of peace came to her soul and, although extremely weak she received strength to raise up in her bed without personal help and shouted the praises of her Redeemer. She then said "I am now ready to go and meet my father and mother." Praise God for a religion that gives his children the assurance of an eternal life.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy." Says Mrs. Mattie Barge of Martinsburg, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine. This remedy is for sale by A. M. Hughes.

OUR COAL.

This Section Will Eventually Supply Pennsylvania in Supplying Coal.

Discussing the growth of the coal tonnage of the South as a part of the phenomenal development of tonnage in the whole country and dealing especially with the phases of the past thirty years, Mr. Edward Wheeler Parker, of the United States Geological Survey, writes in this week's issue of Manufacturers' Record as follows:

"It cannot be many decades before we shall begin to see the exhaustion of the Connellsville region as a source of coke supply. In our present knowledge of coke-making the only coal that will make good the loss of Connellsville is that found in Kentucky and West Virginia. Thus it is that we see coal prospectors taking up all available territory in Eastern Kentucky, in West Virginia and in Southwestern Virginia, and it is in this region that we shall find the greatest mining activity in the near future."

KENTUCKY COAL.

One of the most prominent features of the Kentucky mining exhibit at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition is a section of coal eight feet high from near Pikeville, county, Ky., which shows the importance of a large field now being developed in that section but which must await the completion of railway connection before shipments can begin. But great and growing as is the coal-mining industry in this center, it is unfortunate that comparatively little of the product is consumed locally, all, or nearly all, being shipped to distant points to supply manufacturing establishments. Eastern Kentucky, Southwestern Virginia and West Virginia produce millions of tons of highest-grade coal annually, but are almost entirely devoid of communities supported by manufactures.

"In Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee, on the other hand, the coal-mining regions are surrounded by or surrounded by hives of iron-making, cotton-manufacturing or other industrial enterprises, which make the most desirable and most permanent communities. The growth of the coal-mining industry in these States has not shown the same notable increases as that of West Virginia, but it has been accompanied by other factors which have made the results more profitable to the cities and the States."

Piles Upon Top of Piles.

Piles upon top of piles of people have the Piles, and DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures them. There are many different kinds of Piles, but if you get the genuine and original Witch Hazel Salve made by E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, a cure is certain. H. A. Tisdale, of Summerton, S. C., says, "I had piles 20 years and DeWitt's Salve cured me after everything else failed." Sold by Louisa Drug Co.

OBITUARY.

EDITOR NEWS:—I wish to publish the death of my precious mother, Phoebe J. Osborn, who died June 12th. I wish to say to the surviving children that I did all that could be done to give them the news that mother was dead so that they could meet me at the family grave yard on Big Blaine. The wires were all out of order and I could not send a single message. Brothers and kindred, I feel that I did my whole duty. I was sorry that I had to see my precious mother covered up and some of you not there. Out of twelve children three of us witnessed the burial. Six of them and father had gone before, waiting to meet our mother. I feel satisfied that father and the children met our mother and greeted her as she entered the Holy City. The death of our dear mother has made my heart ache with pain and clouded my mind with grief until I can hardly live. I have suffered over the loss of precious mother until I would be perfectly willing to die if it was not for my two little sons and companion that I love and cherish. Poor mother loved my two little boys and often to her bed side they went kissing her sweet lips. Our mother had held up the Cross of Jesus Christ over thirty years.

Brother Boggs while conducting the burial services said the death of my mother was an appointment with the Lord. That was the most comforting word I have had.

Poor mother, be waiting and watching for me; I am coming to live with you, father, and all true believers in Christ.

Verses on Louisa.

Old folks get the oldest, in Louisa,
Wells are the boldest, in Louisa.
The sky is the bluest,
Women are the truest,
And rascals are the fewest, in Louisa.
Speakers speak the loudest, in Louisa,
People are the proudest, in Louisa.
Big Sandy is the dearest, (?)
The stars seem the nearest,
And the girls are the dearest, in Louisa.
Cows are not the fattest, in Louisa,
Poker players stand pattest, in Louisa,
Taxes are the lightest,
The moon shines the brightest,
And men get the tightest, in Louisa.
Courts last the longest, in Louisa,
Democracy is strongest, in Louisa.
Coon dogs are the fleetest,
Sorghum is the sweetest,
And politicians disreputable, in Louisa.
People take things easiest, in Louisa,
Corn dodgers are the greediest, in Louisa.
The eye is the quickest,
Pistol handles the slickest,
And booze makes you sickest, in Louisa.
A few men are working, in Louisa,
Many more are shirking, in Louisa.
The wheel of sin is humming,
The devil's out a bumping,
And he never quits a drumming, in Louisa.

A CONTINUAL STRAIN.

Many men and women are constantly subjected to what they commonly term "a continual strain," because of some financial or family trouble. It wears and disfigures them, both mentally and physically, affecting their nerves badly and bringing on liver and kidney ailments, with the attendant evils of constipation, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, low vitality and dependency. They cannot, as a rule, get rid of this "continual strain," but they can remedy its health-destroying effects by taking Freese's Green's August Flower. It tones up the liver, stimulates the kidneys, insures healthy bodily functions, gives vim and spirit to one's whole being, and eventually dispels the physical or mental distress caused by that "continual strain." Trial bottle of August Flower, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists. Louisa Drug Co.

FOR SALE:—One field of about 2 acres, suitable for building lots, adjoining streets and alleys, Low Louisa.

OBITUARY.

Died, at her home on Horsford, July 20th, 1904, Rita Skeens, wife of Robert Skeens. She was known as Rita Sloan, daughter of uncle Eli Sloan before she was married.

She had been in poor health for some time but was suddenly attacked with spinal trouble only a few days before her death and suffered the most intense agony.

Rita was loved by all who knew her, having no enemies at all. She leaves behind a husband and four little children and an aged father, brothers, and sisters and a host of friends to mourn the loss. But our loss is heaven's gain, for in her last hour she said she had no fears and was ready to go. She was laid to rest in Sloan graveyard, among those of her own people who have gone before.

Obituary.

George W. Cochran, a prominent and highly respected citizen of Hemlock, took a paralytic stroke, Friday, June 24, while in Corning mixing mortar, and died at his home Saturday, June 25. Funeral occurred at Hemlock, Sunday, June 26, preached by Rev. B. A. Robbins, pastor of the M. E. Church at Shawnee.

Mr. Cochran was born in Dazel county, Va., June 15, 1856, and at the time of his death was aged 48 years and ten days. He was married to Rebecca J. Stafford, June 16, 1881, in Lawrence county, Ky. Moved to Hemlock in 1887, where they have many friends. To them were born four children, Belle, Inez, Charles and one dying in infancy.

Mr. Cochran was a member of the M. E. Church and was a happy christian home. It was his greatest desire to make his wife and children happy. He was also a member of the school board for many years. He will be missed by the citizens of Hemlock and his many friends, but greatest of all by his heart broken wife and children. The vacant chair at the table will recall to their minds, the sympathetic husband and father; the loving deeds of kindness which he so willingly performed.

The going out at sunrise and returning at sunset, never weary of toil in providing for his family, shows his good nature and tender care for his wife and children.

Death knocks at every door; let us dry up our tears and remember in love our beloved husband and father; and thank our Savior because he hath said, of such is the Kingdom of Heaven.

A FRIEND.

HEALTHY MOTHERS.

Mothers should always keep in good bodily health. They owe it to their children. Yet it is no unusual sight to see a mother, with babe in arms, coughing violently and exhibiting all the symptoms of a consumptive tendency. And why should this dangerous condition exist, when Dr. Boecher's German Syrup would stop it to it at once? No mother should be without this old and tried remedy in the house—for its timely use will promptly cure any lung, throat or bronchial trouble in herself or her children. The worst cough or cold can be speedily cured by German Syrup; so can hoarseness and congestion of the bronchial tubes. It makes expectation easy, and gives instant relief and refreshing rest to the cough-racked consumptive. New trial bottle, 25c; large size, 75c. At all druggists. Louisa Drug Co.

OBITUARY.

I speak to-day in memory of the death of little Bertie A. Yates, who was born Sept 8, 1903, departed this life June 16, 1904, at the age of 9 months and eight days. She was the only child of John and Martha Yates. I would be glad of the gift of the Megi, who are supposed to have the power to enchant with words that stand out like living presence; for then might I hope to do justice to the memory of little Bertie A. Yates, but Lucretia the ancient philosopher and poet, tells that things seem to die but do not. The spring showers melt on the bosom of earth but rise again in fruits and leaves and flowers and even death is nothing but a birth. Then while little Bertie is dead to earth she is born in heaven. We are glad to think that rest will come at length, though life be long and dreary. The day must dawn, the night must pass, all journeys end in welcome to the weary, and heaven our home will come at last. Weep not dear parents, the time is coming that you can, as said King David, go to your child. God bless the many friends of John and Martha Yates, who were so kind to them during their heart rending trouble.

Adam Harman.

YATESVILLE.

Say! Was the school wrangle settled satisfactorily? A great many of the schools have been handled like plug horses on a jockey ground. Milt Etkins and family, of Ashland, spent the past week among relatives here.

James L. Jordan and some of the fair sex were driving over the pike a day or so ago of last week.

We are having a fine growing season and according to the present outlook there will be fine crops of corn and potatoes, but the oats crop was considerably damaged by the Fourth of July storm.

At the mouth of our branch beyond the school house is the grandest natural scenery that is to be found in this section, there are the most stately beeches, the deepest in general and the darkest shade that we know of any where, and did you ask about the fish in Blaine? Well, they once abounded most abundantly, but since the dynamiters, irrespective of law or gospel, have got in their work they are no more, and we who like fish are compelled to make out on oysters and sardines.

Bacon and beans without very much of the bacon is ripe once more.

Allen Casey Estep, one of our neighbor boys who cut his foot with an ax very severely some weeks ago, is slowly improving.

Mrs. Lulu Lamer, Stoughton, Wis., says:

"For two years I suffered with nervous trouble and stomach disorders until it seemed that there was nothing to me but a bundle of nerves."

"I was very irritable, could not sleep, rest or compose myself, and was certainly unfit to take care of a household."
